Beginning at 8:30 p.m., invited guest speakers will address those in attendance, relative to pending Warrant Articles or other matters of local interest. Invited guests of the evening are the Arlington Board of Selectmen, Senator Phil Pellegrini, Representatives Eleanor Campobasso, William Pickett, Ned Dever and Gregory Khachadorian.

Law Requires

Federal Law requires all non-citizens in the United States on January 1 of each year to complete Form I-53 "Alien Address Report."

All non-citizens admitted for permanent residence regardless of age or period of residence, and all non-immigrants in the United States for limited periods, such as students, visitors, exchange personnel, etc., must comply with this statutory requirement.

Diplomats, members of certain international organizations, such as the United Nations, who have not abandoned their status, are exempted.

Form I-53 "Alien Address Report" will be available at all United States Post Offices and Immigration and Naturalization Service Offices during business hours from January 2 to January 31, 1969, inclusive.

Operators at the New England Tel. and Tel. Co., 67 Pleasant st., recently held a cake sale and handicraft sale proceeds of which were sent to the Nursery School Children of the Emmanuel House, Roxbury for Christmas.

A wild ice storm rattled by strong northeasterly winds knocked down limbs and wires and knocked out power in some sections of town while limiting travel to a crawl throughout the area over the past weekend.

The police blotter looked like a tabulation sheet as nearly every other entry during the period from late Friday night through Saturday, into Sunday night, and thence into Sunday was marked "limb down," or "wire down."

see was on Cleveland st. where a limb was reported down.

2000 "Sigs." For Request

Following the verification of the petition circulated townwide by the Arlington firefighters during the last two weeks, Town Clerk Mary Farrington has certified 1,932 signatures. These represent registered voters who have gone on record as approving the 42-hour work week request by the Firefighters Local 1297 of Arlington.

A total of 2,300 signatures were obtained by the firefighters and when turned over to the Town Clerk, certification of the 1,932 followed.

The matter now goes onto the Town Ballot for vote by the registered voters of the Town of Arlington in the Election of March 1, 1969.

THE Observer

We're ready for another year. Last year ended on some very happy notes - - - "Our Men" flying to the moon. "Our Men" being released from North Korea.

Can't help but wonder—did Santa wish he had the transportation that was available to "Our Men" in space Christmas Eve.

The man in the red suit must be having a more difficult time with each passing year.

Certainly the number of people believing in him who once didn't, and the rapidly increasing world population has made it almost impossible, it would seem, for the man in red to make every cottage and mansion throughout the world.

Arlington is an example.

Look back to the pictures that have appeared in the local papers in recent months showing how the town looked 30, 40 or 50 years ago, and it is clearly seen that Santa has many more houses to service than was the case during those earlier days.

And if one wants to go back even further take a look at those school enrollment statistics that have been self-evident in the past decade, and it can be seen that Santa has hundreds more youngsters to contact in Arlington than he once did.

How about a fund to obtain a bigger and faster sleigh for Santa next year when he come around—and will he have to plan on a moon trip soon?

48 Years Ago

It is now forty-eight years since Rep. Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York introduced in Congress a resolution calling for the burial at Arlington National Cemetery of an unknown member of our forces "who was killed on the battlefields of France."

The bill was signed by President Harding, on March 4, 1921, and the following Memorial Day Sergeant Edward F. Younger stood solemnly before the caskets of four unknown soldiers. There was one from each of the four American National Cemeteries in France. The much-decorated soldier deliberated and, finally placed a spray of white roses on the casket that would be placed in honor on a hill overlooking Washington.

Guarded by a U. S. Marine, the Unknown Soldier returned home on the cruiser Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship at the battle of Manila Bay. On November 9, 1921, the Olympia glided into the Washington Navy Yard, greeted by a 21-gun salute. Then the precious body was escorted to the Capitol, where he rested in state beneath the great Rotunda on the catafalque that had borne the bodies of Presidents Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley. More than 100,000 people paid their respects that day and the following day; a like number would attend ceremonies at the Cemetery.

On November 11, three years after the end of the conflict, President Harding bestowed the Medal of Honor and the Distinguished Service Cross on the Unknown Soldier and the odyssey was ended.

In 1926, a sunrise to sunset armed guard was placed at the tomb, because of vandals who had been chipping away the stone. Later, in 1937 vandalism prompted a 24-hour vigil. In 1958, Unknown Soldiers from World War II and Korea joined their predecessor.

Come March 15, the American Legion will throw the switch for a new "gift to the Nation" on its Golden Anniversary, and the Tomb of the Unknowns will be flooded with light—a beacon of thanks for the freedom they died to protect. The permanent illumination is a gift which will be welcomed by millions of visitors to Arlington in the years to come.

Happier New Year

January will mark the beginning of "a happier New Year" for countless victims of birth defects if everyone responds to the mail appeals for contributions now being sent out by the March of Dimes during its annual fundraising campaign.

March of Dimes campaign director Middlesex County Registrar of Probate John V. Harvey stressed the importance of full support of persons in the Massachusetts Bay "Your checks will help finance more than 100 March of Dimes Birth Defects Centers where skilled medical specialists are setting standards for treatment and rehabilitation of children born less than perfect," he said.

"Nor does our work end there. Research studies also are being conducted in many parts of the country to determine the causes of these tragedies and how they may be prevented. During the year, many of our chapters conduct public education classes in communities throughout the nation on the value of prenatal care and other aspects of birth defects prevention."

These, and other March of Dimes programs require large sums of money, Mr. Harvey explained. "For the sake of our children, and their children, each of us has a stake in the success of this campaign," he said, in urging a generous response to the mail appeal.

A.H.S. Track Team Loses Close One To Powerful Milton

Girl Hoopsters Begin

The 1969 AHS girls' basketball team has been announced by Coach McDonough. Seniors Eileen Abuzzese, Ginny Barnaby, Debbie Getrost, Nanci Mahoney and Ann Muri will backbone the team and should be ably assisted by juniors Elaine Cooper, Eileen Fitzpatrick, Sue Foley, Jeanne Hayes and Nancy Power.

These 10 upperclassmen plus sophomores Carolyn Grant and Bobbi Reardon represent the returning letter winners who had a 6-2 regular season record and a 4-0 record on route to winning the Billerica Invitational Tournament last February.

Four other members of the 1968 squad have chosen not to play basketball this season in what could be a most interesting one.

Newcomers expected to see plenty of action on the junior varsity are sophomores Joan Carter and Ann Keefe as well as freshmen Judy Bryant, Debbie Ciria, Jean Duffy, Janet Flynn, Susan Gallison, Elynn Germonette, and Sylvia Streis. A nine-game schedule has been set up including home games on Tuesday, Jan. 7 with Cambridge Latin; Friday, Jan. 10 with Melrose;

Friday, Jan. 17 with Watertown; and, Friday Feb. 7 with Belmont. The team has also been invited back to the Billerica Invitational Tournament as defending champions and will be seeking their second crown during February Vacation.

Pre-season scrimmage has been arranged with Matignon High school and should give some indication of what to expect during the coming season as the Cambridge school always has a team of championship caliber and this year is no exception.

At this point the question marks seem to lie in the defensive set-up of the AHS line-up. All four starting members of the offensive unit are back including high scorer Debbie Getrost; lost by graduation are the top three defensive players of '68, namely: Caissie, Heffernan and Manderino. Elaine Cooper and Jeanne Hayes seem to have the inside track if the team continues to use a system of four two-way players and two stationary guards. It is a good bet however that the material available will make it possible to have six two-way players going most of the time. In Arlington High school's hockey team held onto a share of second place in the G.B.I. hockey loop with an 11-0 victory over Rindge Tech, at the Boston Arena, Saturday.

Win 11-0

The victory, the second for the locals, kept them in a tie with Medford at four points each. Brookline leads the loop with a 3-0 mark and six points.

Despite the lopsided final score, this was a contest for a period as the locals held but a 1-0 edge at the end of the first stanza.

However, from this point on it was no contest with Arlington scoring a handful of goals in the second period and again in the final canto.

Noonan and Davison tallied two goals each for the locals with Hoar, Brine, Shaughnessy, Tony Lyons, Flanagan, Hale and Quinlan adding one each.

Budget Meeting

The Arlington School Committee will hold a Special Budget Meeting, Jan. 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the Junior High Industrial Arts school library.

Track Team Beats Medford

The day before Christmas, the AHS track team won 46-40 over the No. Quincy track team in the Div. 2 Met. League.

Tim Lynch won the mile in 5:03 with teammate Bob Brower taking third. Mike Ceurels won the 1000, with Dave Baldwin a second place finisher.

In the 600, Bill Mahoney ran second and Paul Cochrane took third place. Paul Manderino won the shot put with a toss of almost 40 feet and Charlie Barnaby took the third spot.

Arlington had a one-two finish in the two-mile with Tom Heaslip the winner and Jim Swanson just behind him.

For the second time in two meets, Paul Manderino was a double winner as he won the hurdles. Malloy of Arlington finished third in this event. Bob Baker, with a third in the high jump, scored Arlington's only points in the jumping event. Bob had a second in the 50-yard dash.

Problem Solved By Storm Doors

NEW YORK (a) — While this may be the season to be jolly, it's not always easy to laugh away the problems that winter presents.

Like keeping cold air out of the house, for example.

This particular problem is getting lots of attention from homeowners. The solution, many have found, is the installation of aluminum storm doors.

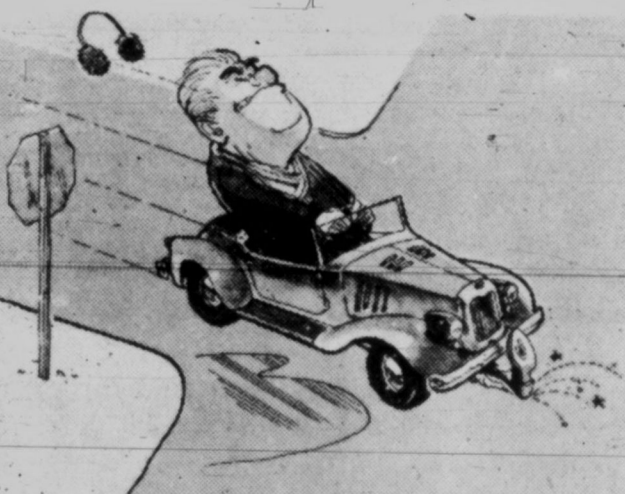

Among the most popular types of storm doors are the jalousie models. They eliminate the need to remove the screen panel in winter and replace it with the glass panel. The jalousie is made with a series of narrow slats of glass. They are installed in frames that operate from a crank or lever which opens or closes the frames, depending on the season.

Set The Scene With Kava

Feel in the mood for sharing a discovery, even with such an everyday beverage as coffee? If so, it might be fun to pamper and surprise a busy homemaker when she wakes some leisurely Sunday morning.

Borden Foods tempts all true coffee adventurers with its new instant Kava. Ninety per cent of the acidity is neutralized, so even the most dedicated kaffeeklatscher can enjoy fine flavor with less acid taste and no bitterness.

For a breakfast surprise, having a continental flair, serve cups of Kava with flaky light Brioche or Croissants. To serve the all-American way, offer a soft-boiled egg with toast and coffee on a cheerful, bright-looking tray. It will be even prettier and more pleasing with a posy in a bud vase.

If the cook of the house cares to be creative at other times, too, he or she might sprinkle instant coffee on puffs of whipped cream atop desserts . . . on meringue pies, puddings and custards . . . on ice cream or frosted cakes.

Or use Kava in icing, for coffee flavoring with almost anything . . . especially in hot or cold beverages, floats and shakes.

Best of all, though, as the Borden Kitchen points out, this new instant coffee stays fresh and ever-ready on the pantry shelf without refrigeration. Once opened, it should be kept tightly closed in a cool, dry spot to insure freshness and dryness.

The cost of college for your child: How to get ready for it through U.S. Savings Bonds

When your son or daughter is ready for college, will you be ready to pay for it?

Recent estimates show that the cost of attending an institution of higher learning in the mid-1960's averaged about $1,600 a year for public institutions and $2,430 for private ones. And there's every indication that the cost will keep on rising.

That makes it important for parents to act early. Self-help, tuition grants, and student loans may answer part of the problem later—but to bring this goal within your reach, a groundwork of systematic saving should be laid right now. U.S. Savings Bonds are ideal for this purpose.

Why Savings Bonds?

Bonds have a special combination of features to make them uniquely suitable for your education fund. The safety of a government guarantee. Adaptability to a long-range goal while still being readily cashable for any emergency. An assured interest rate of 4.25% when held to maturity, with an automatic 10-year extension privilege. Easy availability through two automatic purchase plans, Payroll Savings where you work or Bond-A-Month where you bank.

And very important tax advantages. That's the main subject of this ad.

First, the interest on Savings Bonds is exempt from all state and local income taxes. And second, you have an option as to when you pay the Federal tax on E Bond interest—either on a current basis, year by year, or all at once when you redeem the Bond. By using the first option and buying the Bonds in your child's name, as described below, his education fund can become completely tax-free.

Make your child the Bond owner

Under this plan, Bonds are purchased in the child's name, either alone or with a parent named as a beneficiary. These become an outright gift from parent to child.

The income tax liability can usually be shifted to the child by filing a Federal return in his name at the end of the first year of Bond purchases, listing the increase in Bond value as income to him. This initial return establishes the intent, and no further returns need be filed as long as the child's total annual income is less than $600; and no tax will be due if the Bond interest, plus other income, comes to less than $900 ($600 personal exemption plus $300 standard deduction). Assuming that the child never exceeds this $900 income figure in any year, the total interest accruals on his Bonds will be tax-free when he cashes them for his education.

As protection for the taxpayer, a copy of the initial return, establishing the intent, should be retained for possible proof in later years that the interest has been reported.

Your Education Fund Timetable

By following the above formula, your child will get maximum value out of every dollar saved and every dollar added in interest. The figures in the table below thus show the actual amounts available for college, undiminished by taxes.

In deciding what amount you should save each month, use your child's age as the key. This table for monthly purchases of $25, $50, $75, or $100 denomination Bonds, shows how your child can be ready for College Enrollment Day if you start TODAY.

Cremora Calls At Many Ports

Cremora puts in at many ports-of-call, travels about the world or, nearer by, goes so easily to picnics and other out-of-door doings. In the spirit of this season, it puts on a party-perfect face for holidays at home.

In a day when so many Americans are on the move so much, the convenience of totables is most welcome. This powdered, nondairy lightener goes everywhere to enhance the flavor and color of coffee.

Oklahomans Nominate 'Favorite Son' As National March of Dimes Child

Tracy Greenwood, March of Dimes Poster Child for 1969, sounds much like any other 5-year-old boy. He puts on a cowboy hat when he climbs up on his father's tractor at their home in Oklahoma. He wrestles with his older brother, Jamie, and takes care of his menagerie of pets.

None of this is easy for Tracy. Born with an open spine and hydrocephalus (water on the brain), the handsome, impish youngster is encumbered by full leg braces and wooden crutches. Yet, as any visitor to the Greenwood's neat home in Velma can see, Tracy has conquered the heavy equipment with humor, determination and the constant encouragement of his family.

Doctors were pessimistic about his chances for survival when Tracy was born. They feared permanent brain damage if he lived and doubted whether he would walk at all. At 3 months, he was taken to Children's Memorial Hospital in Oklahoma City where the March of Dimes supports a Birth Defects Center, and has undergone major surgery five times.

For Tracy, the March of Dimes program of comprehensive care consists of regular checkups by an orthopedist, neurologist, urologist and physical therapist. His mother helps him with daily exercises at home.

Today, he is a symbol of the quarter of a million babies born every year in the United States with birth defects. As National Poster Child, he will represent them in cities and towns across the country during January for the annual fund-raising appeal by the March of Dimes.

The voluntary health agency is now in its second decade of leading the fight to prevent birth defects. In this period, it has established a nationwide network of 103 birth defects centers where outstanding teams of medical professionals search for the causes of the tragedies and provide the most modern treatment and rehabilitation.

Tracy Greenwood is an example of the progress they are making. His pretty young mother, Betty, says, "We wouldn't have Tracy today if it weren't for March of Dimes research. They came up with the answers needed for our son and children like him."

GETTING IN SHAPE for his January travels as 1969 March of Dimes Poster Child, Tracy Greenwood, 5, of Velma, Okla., exercises legs crippled by a birth defect. Supervising is physical therapist Don Schneider, March of Dimes Birth Defects Center, Children's Memorial Hospital, Oklahoma City.

Although he has been singled out for national attention, he is still called "Hound Dog" at home. Bright, happy and well-adjusted, his full day begins at 7 a.m. He spends as much time as possible playing outdoors with his brother, Jamie, who is 7 and in normal health.

Tracy is developing extra strength in his upper body as a result of his exercises. He puts this advantage to work during wrestling matches with Jamie and proudly announces the news when he "gets" his brother.

Tracy is an avid television fan whose tastes run to cartoons. His favorite books are animal stories and he lavishes attention on his rabbits, Hoppy and Freckles, his cat, Prissy, a Welsh Terrier named Susie, and Puff, a German Shepherd. The Greenwood's drew the notice of fellow "Sooners" after local news stories appeared about the tragedies they had faced and overcome. Mr. Greenwood suffered near-fatal injuries three years ago when the gasoline truck he was driving exploded. Betty Greenwood carried on courageously and has been rewarded by the excellent progress that both her husband and son are making.

As a result, the March of Dimes was bombarded with petitions on Tracy's behalf from thousands of Oklahomans, including U. S. Congressman Carl Albert (D-Okla.), House Majority Leader.

Mademoiselle Awards Honor 26 Young Woman Activists

Betsy Talbot Blackwell, Editor-in-Chief of Mademoiselle magazine congratulates Valerie Dickerson, one of 26 recipients of the 1968 Mademoiselle Awards, recognizing achievement and involvement in areas from poverty projects to ballet.

NEW YORK—For each of the past 24 years MADemoiselle magazine has conferred its Merit Awards on a limited number of young women in their 20s who were on the threshold of "significant achievement." This year, the editors decided to reevaluate the concept behind the awards.

"In the past we singled out four to ten up-and-coming headliners in the professions and arts for recognition. But now we are confronted with a generation that is beyond categorizing. So many young women are so deeply involved," said Betsy Talbot Blackwell, MADemoiselle Editor-in-Chief, "that this year we have expanded our award format and are citing 26 winners."

Carolyn Adams, for instance, a 25-year-old dancer with the Paul Taylor Company, was deemed a "Taylor treasure" by a critic. Her "involvement" also has taken the form of teaching dance as therapy to the handicapped, plus her current participation in the Harlem community as a teacher and staff member of the Education Project.

Valerie Dickerson, 21, recently won Sigma Delta Chi's national college reporting award. Last summer Valerie lived and worked with an interracial group in a Brooklyn, New York, ghetto. She is now preparing for a career in news analysis at the Columbia Graduate School of Journalism. All this and beauty, too? She has also just been named National College Queen.

Catherine Jermany, 28, has been working for the needy since she was 14. She has studied law and lobbied for updated welfare legislation; set up a round-the-clock center in Los Angeles to combat emergencies from broken plumbing to suicide threats and to arrange for follow-up help from the proper agencies. Catherine now works full-time for an OEO-funded Neighborhood Adult Participation project in Los Angeles.

Beverly Rich, 27, is an actress.

But her stage has been behind prison doors ever since she, co-founded (with actor Akila Coulombis) the Theatre for the Forgotten. This troupe of professionals produces and performs plays for inmates and brings their audience into the act, both on-stage and backstage.

"And this is just a sample," MADemoiselle's Editor-in-Chief pointed out. "The young are looking at their own lives and achievements differently now. They are making contact and impact beyond traditional areas, and often behind the headlines. We wanted to call attention to this new involvement."

The other MADemoiselle Award winners:

Jane Alexander—29, actress playing the part of black Jack Jefferson's white mistress in Broadway's The Great White Hope.

Patti Cappalli—29, vice-president/designer of a new sportswear company, Addenda. MADemoiselle tags her "the Duffy of Seventh Avenue."

Ky-Wah Chung—20, promises to be one of the century's great violinists. Winner of Leventritt International Competition in 1967.

Jacqueline du Pré—23, cellist of formidable talent. Made her debut in London at age 16, in New York at age 20.

Susan Epperson—27, biology teacher who challenged the constitutionality of the Arkansas statute that makes it a crime to teach Darwin's evolution theory.

Louise Glück—25, winner of MADemoiselle's 1965 College Poetry Competition. Her first collection, Firstborn, just published by World.

Ann Hart—21, one of the committed campaigners for Senator Eugene McCarthy.

Jane Kramer—29, journalist and first biographer of Allen Ginsberg. Allen Ginsberg in America (Random House) out this spring.

Kathy Kusner—27, U.S. Olympic equestrienne, licensed as the first lady jockey.

Sandra Locke—21, star of The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter. An unknown who won the part over 2,000 other hopefuls.

Gail McHenry—20, youngest delegate at the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Debbie Meyer—16, the winner of three gold medals for swimming at the 1968 Olympics.

Sheila Murphy—21, mairspring of Ad Hoc Committee investigating possible police brutality during Detroit Poor People's Campaign.

Laura Nyro—21, American pop singer-composer with a distinct sound.

Joyce Carol Oates—30, novelist. Winner of MADemoiselle's 1959 College Fiction Competition. Latest publication: Expensive People (Vanguard).

Jane Marla Robbins—25, plays Fanny Brune in the one-woman Off Broadway show, Dear Nobody.

Lynda Sinay—25, founder and co-partner of Sinay-Longino, Advertising, in Los Angeles. Her agency attracts almost one million dollars worth of billings from youth-market-oriented clients.

Trinette Singleton—20, ballerina in New York's City Center Joffrey Ballet.

Sarah Smith—29, astronomer at the Lockheed Solar Observatory and co-discoverer of the fact that solar flares can be pinpointed with fine accuracy.

Francine Stein—26, community-service activist. Currently with Planned Parenthood—World Population.
